My dear Lucy, Accept my cordial thanks for the important facts supplied by your letters and the documents therein quoted. They establish truths not so fully understood as they ought to be in the old country; but proper to be known in every country, proper to be borne in mind by all who would defend civilised society and its first requisite, the repression of crime. We knew before that the Irish Catholics who have emigrated to the United States are, for the most part, avowed enemies of England; that rebels, traitors and criminals here obtain from them funds for the prosecution of their nefarious work. But from your letters we now learn that they are enemies not of England and the Saxon race alone, but of the laws and peace of the land in which they reside, and of...
